In 1898 the villagers ~~have~~ said that the lands might be valued at Rs 1000 and the annual yield about Rs 75/-. From a Mahazar made in December 1901, it is seen that the annual yield is 4 Kandis of grain and Rs 4 in cash and the value of the lands, Rs 250/-

On 20.6.02 the Badgas deposed that they would pay full assessment on the lands and they have actually paid it in 1901 and seem to have done so thenceforward.

In 1903, the Amildar estimated the annual yield at Rs 40/ and one Singlachar offered to pay that amount.

On 15.10.05, one Chandagira Hommegauda's son Kariya made an offer to pay Rs 30 annually if the lands were leased out to him for 10 years.

The lands were put in possession of the Patel on 22.10.05.

It is also seen that Shanbhogue Komaraiya and Patel Channegauda have been keeping with them the produce from the lands ~~lands~~.

The temple is reported to be in need of repairs. Of the produce of the main lands in the possession of Kadegauda, Ningegauda and others and also Shanbhogue Komaraiya

The lands have been leased out now for a nominal Kutta of Rs 10/-

The records disclose that the local authorities have not bestowed sufficient attention on the management of the temple lands.

From the Quit rent register it is seen that the old field Numbers 41, 228 & 444 ordered to be resumed to Govt in the Govt order of 1904 correspond to survey numbers 75 and 151 while survey numbers 25, 60 & 98 (which correspond to the main lands enjoyed by the temple Bhajantri mkm) are recommended to be put in possession of the archak.

May the Dy com's recommendation be sanctioned, or may an enquiry be made as to why if the lands yield a good income, the archaks Services may not be suitably remunerated in cash and the lands leased out to the best advantage of the temple?
